

LABOUR MARKET INFORMATION

Insights into Canada's Mining Labour Market

What is LMI?

Labour Market Information helps the mining labour market function smoothly. It forms the cornerstone of the Mining Industry Human Resources Council's (MiHR) programs that help identify opportunities and address human resource and labour market challenges.

MiHR delivers the LMI needed to better understand the supply and demand of Canada's mining workforce. A variety of data types are provided for Canada and specific regions and provinces, including current trends in the labour force, employment statistics, data on historical economic conditions and projections of future employment needs and trends.

What is MiHR's LMI Objective?

To ensure MiHR is the trusted, relevant and responsive knowledge centre of labour market information, expertise and analysis for Canada's mining sector.
